A frank and courteous lawgiver, prom in the discharge of his duties, a ready speaker, new in the scenes of the Senate but man-ifesting a knowledge of legislation and the wants of the country that would do honor to the veteran, fearless in the assertion of his principles, but moderate in his counsels, ready to do justice to his political opponents and already in the enjoyment of the good opinion of the Senate for his modest demeunor and sound judgment.

sound judgment.

DANIEL WEBSTER, OF MASSACHUSETTS.
THE lawyer of the age, the statesman whom the country delights to honor, the legislator who leaves his footprints wherever he walks, the master workman in every thing he touches, whose gigratic genius precedes his mighty talents, whose faree in the halls of legislation and in the forum and in diplomacy has gone out through the wide world to live forever, THE orator of the nineteenth century, and the shining light of the American Senate.

J. D. WESTCOTT, OF FLORIDA.

An original thinker of sound judgment, one who has performed his part well in the legislation of the Union, an efficient public speaker, well informed on all topics of the day, a sound lawyer, of enlarged views of public policy, liberal in his sentiments, industrious in the performance of his duties, one who has held the confidence of the Senate for his honesty of purpose, always striving to be doing something useful to the country and universally esteemed for his frankness and courteous demeanor.

DAVID L. YULEE, OF FLORIDA.

A veteran in legislation, a ready and an agreeable speaker, a statesman of expanded views of public policy, conservative in his oninions, industrious in his habits, fond of investigation, attentive to his public duties, honest and sincere in his opinions, not given to ultraism but moderate in his sentiments, solicitous for the best interests of his country and urgent in bringing forward and advocating every measure that can tend to the consummation of this grand object.

Summation of this grand object.

Washington City, D. C., Feb. 18, 1849.

To the Editor of the National Whig:

Istinus or Trauantergo.—The Mobile Herald publishes an article devoted to showing the impracticability of a canal across the Islamus of Telusantepec, from the want of an adequate supply of water. The writer alleges want of an adequate supply of water. The writer alleges conclaims. Such a canal as has been proposed, would, according to him, cost more nearly twenty-sax than sixten millions, and for three or four months in the year, it would be without water.

SENATE.

An ineffectual motion was made to fix the hour of meeting at eleven o'clock hereafter.

Mr. Underwood offixed a resolution, (which lies the convolving for the purchase, by the United States, or the purchase, by the United States, or the convolution for the purchase, by the United States, or the city of that name, for the interment of the American citizens who there fell in battle, or those who may hereafter die there.

The Senate resumed the consideration of the General Appropriation Bill. Several amendments were adopted; among them, one appropriating $20,000, to aid the city of Washington in deepening the Chesapeske and Ohio Canal, from the Corporate limits of Georgetown to the Navy Yard. This was agreed to by a vote of $20 to 13
